

THERE SEEMS TO BE A LINGERING PROBLEM

In 2008 the Board amended the rule regarding what your seal/stamp must look like. While the image was not significantly changed, the new image did eliminate the box to showing the “expired date.” Since its adoption all licensees MUST only use the approved form for their profession. Use of any other form, including older versions with the expired date, is in violation of this administrative rule.

It is strongly recommended to check the image you are using or that of your employees to ensure the correct form is being applied.

WAC 196-23-010

Seals.

All individuals licensed in accordance with chapter 18.43 RCW must utilize a seal/stamp that conforms to the design as authorized by the board. It is the responsibility of the licensee to maintain control over the use of his/her stamp/seal. The impression or image of the seal/stamp must conform to the below-illustrated design and be of a size that assures full legibility of the following required information:

- (1) State of Washington;
- (2) Registered professional engineer or registered professional land surveyor;
- (3) Certificate number;
- (4) Licensee's name as shown on wall certificate.
